Harvest Weather Continues Ideal

Yields of Wheat Over the County Better Than Was Anticipated Last Week

Ideal harvest weather continues on the Plains, with little interference with the combines as rapid progress is made in harvesting the 1945 wheat crop.

The yield is much better than was anticipated.

Railroad cars are shorter than usual. The army has tied up all of the surplus cars. There is a long string of cars on the siding north of Canyon, but the army will not allow them to be used for grain. Practically every east bound freight train has many empty cars which would relieve the congestion, but the army will not allow them to be diverted.

Farmers are selling their wheat due to the high price. The amount of government storage will not be so large as usual this year.

It is reported that Frank Culp, near Happy, made 30 bushels to the acre on his summer fallowed wheat.

Clem Dugan and Oscar Smith made 29 bushels to the acre on summer fallowed wheat east of Canyon.

Otis Parker made 25 bushels to the acre on summer fallowed wheat in the southeast part of the county.

R. B. Gist reports a singular yield on his summer fallowed land. Wheat which followed maize is making 25 bushels to the acre, but wheat which followed wheat is making only 18 bushels. Mr. Gist is convinced that summer fallowing will always pay.

Naturally these are unusual yields. Other wheat is running from 3 to 10 bushels to the acre. The average for the county over a period of years has been about 8 bushels to the acre. The heavy yield of summer fallowed wheat this year may hold the county's average near this mark in spite of the large acreage which was lost by the drouth. The wheat acreage for 1945 is about 40,000 acres above normal.

A hot wave, with high wind and dust hit the Plains Tuesday. It was the most disagreeable day of the summer.

Farmers who lost their wheat by hail or by drouth are greatly worried over the feed crop. There is still time to make a feed crop, provided rains continue during July and August. But with little rain during May and June, the outlook is very poor for a feed crop.

The only moisture for the past week was .58 of an inch last Wednesday night, and .08 of an inch Tuesday afternoon of this week.

Alfred Bellah stated that the rain Tuesday evening amounted to 2 inches at his farm 10 miles south of Canyon. The gauge at the R. B. Gist farm measured .71 of an inch. The rain seems to have covered a large part of the south part of the county.

30 Gallons Gas Limit Removed For Service Men

Additional gasoline rations may now be obtained by service men having furloughs of more than 30 days, the OPA Rationing Division has announced.

Furlough gasoline will still be issued at the rate of a gallon a day, but the 30-gallon limit is being removed for the benefit of released American prisoners of war who get leave or temporary duty assignments for 60 days in this country, and for members of the armed forces who return from overseas and get more than 30 days' leave.

The service man applying for furlough gasoline rations should apply at any local War Price and Rationing Board, take along the mileage rationing record for the car to be used, and be ready to show his furlough papers.

Service men on terminal leave before discharge are eligible for furlough gasoline rations at the rate of a gallon a day until the date of discharge, but the maximum of 30 gallons still applies in these cases.

MISERY LIKES COMPANY

Morley Drake, publisher of the Lamb County Leader, Littlefield, came through Canyon Friday begging for a printer. He wept on the shoulder of the Newsman as he told of his difficulties.

The situation in other Panhandle newspapers was reviewed for Publisher Drake. He reached the conclusion that while he was in a terrible jam, he was probably no worse off than the average run of country publishers.

SGT. JOE HALES PROMOTED

Joe V. Hales, husband of Mrs. Billie L. Hales, and son of Mr. and Mrs. M. B. Hales, Route 1, Amarillo, has been promoted to the grade of Sergeant. He is stationed at Alexandria (La.) Army Air Field, Third Air Force B-17 Training Center.

Sgt. Hales attended Texas A. & M. College before entering the service in September of 1942.

Harris M. Cook Will End Year as Rotary Governor

DR. HARRIS M. COOK

Dr. Harris M. Cook will retire as District Governor of Rotary on Saturday. He was elected Governor of the 127th District in 1944 and has served a very successful term. During the year he has paid official visits to the 59 clubs of the district, and organized a new club at Hereford. The membership of clubs of the district has increased very satisfactory during the year.

Governor Cook will be succeeded by Charles Payton of Cleburne, who is manager of the Cleburne Chamber of Commerce since retirement with the Southwestern Bell Telephone Co.

Appropriation Is Given Good Boost

Governor Coke Stevenson signed the appropriations bill for the Texas educational institutions Thursday without a single veto. Members of the Board of Regents and presidents of the colleges met with the Governor and agreed to spend only such sums as are necessary to keep the institutions operating efficiently.

The appropriation for the next two years is $589,789 as compared with $444,228 for the two years which close August 31—an increase of $145,561. The increase is distributed somewhat as follows: for improvements and repairs and replacements, $43,000. Included in this item is $20,000 to be spent on our plumbing and heating system. Summer school appropriation was increased about 15 per cent, and maintenance and equipment about 10 per cent. All salaries, except two, were increased in sums ranging from 4½ to 33⅓ per cent. The average increase is about 9 per cent. A few new positions were granted, and salaries for men in the armed services were restored, the assumption being that some or all of these men will return before the close of the next biennium.

The increases which we received will be most helpful, although they are not in every way proportionate to increases in other institutions of higher learning. The bill which came out of the lower house was considerably better than the bill which was passed, but the original Senate Bill was very much worse. Due to the fight made by Sen. Grady Hazlewood, the Senate Bill was increased considerably. We are due Sen. Hazlewood a vote of thanks in this connection. Rep. G. H. Little seemed to meet no obstruction in the House, and we are very grateful indeed to him for the service he rendered us in that body.

Capt. Joe Gill Again Decorated

Received Distinguished Service Cross For Leading Men Against Germans

WITH 36th DIVISION, Bavaria. (By Mail)—Cited for extraordinary heroism during the battle of the Siegfried Line, Capt. Joe W. Gill of Canyon, commander of Company E, 142nd Infantry Regiment of the 36th Division, has been decorated by Maj. Gen. John E. Dahlquist with the Distinguished Service Cross, the nation's second highest honor.

The decoration was bestowed in a ceremony at Kaufbeuren, Bavaria, the citation relating:

"On 21 March 1945, during the attack against the Siegfried Line defenses in the vicinity of Ober Otterbach, Captain Gill wes leading Company E in assaulting a series of four enemy pill boxes when the advance was stopped by heavy machine guns.

"Selecting five men to accompany him he ran through hostile small arms fire to a position from which he could fire on the machine gun emplacements. By effective use of his rifle he silenced the two guns and killed three crew members.

"He then led his company in clearing the four pill boxes, personally killing one German officer and capturing 25 of the enemy.

"Captain Gill's outstanding intrepidity and aggressive leadership enabled his men to neutralize all hostile resistance in the area and seize a group of pillboxes in the Siegfried defenses."

Capt. Gill left Canyon with Co. F of the National Guards and has won all his promotions through battlefield service. When on furlough early this year, Capt. Gill revealed his attitude when he said, "One does not send men into battle, he leads them."

T. A. Black Is In Home Service For Red Cross

T. A. Black has succeeded Guy Harp as Home Service Chairman for the Randall County Unit of the American Red Cross. Mr. Harp has served efficiently in this capacity for a number of months but other duties make it impossible for him to continue to devote the time necessary.

Mr. Black is well fitted for this work. He is well known in the community, having been in business here for a number of years. He is a World War Veteran of World War I and is active in American Legion work. He may be seen at Allen & Black Dry Goods and Ready-to-Wear.

George Schaeffer Back on Farm After Discharge

On Monday morning Mrs. George Schaeffer turned the management of their property and the harvesting of 2,000 acres of wheat into the hands of her husband, Cpl. George Schaeffer, who arrived home at noon Sunday with a discharge from the Army.

Mr. Schaeffer entered the services more than 3 years ago and has been over seas 18 months. On his return he was greeted by a son, S-Sgt. Dean Schaeffer who is home on furlough from two years in India. Another son, S-Sgt Donald Schaeffer, who has been serving with the 8th Air Corps, is enroute home.

Mr. Schaeffer was in the 50th General Hospital. He served most of his time in Scotland, but landed in France on July 19. He was not in combat, and the Germans did not bomb the hospital in which he worked. The Germans did not recognize hospitals in many instances and bombs were dropped, and the hospitals strafed by machine gun fire.

Mr. Schaeffer came home on a slow boat. It took 32 days from the time he left France until he arrived home.

Farm Accidents Are Very Costly

Manpower Shortage Makes It Necessary That Care Be Taken Avoid Accidents

Every year at wheat harvest time there is at least one serious, if not fatal accident in the operation of farm machinery.

This year is no exception. In fact, several have been reported already. At least one has cost the life of a boy who wanted to help with the wheat harvest. Only a very few of these accidents prove to be fatal but they are often serious enough to cause the loss of an arm, a hand or a foot.

Many of the so-called unavoidable accidents might be avoided by the observance of the simple rules of safety and by taking an extra minute to be careful. Some farm accidents are caused by mechanical failures such as failure of brakes, etc. There is more machinery being used that is old and in need of replacement than ever before. The shortage of manpower is another contributing cause of accidents on account of so many small boys and inexperienced help operating heavy machinery. However, many boys under 15 who are good tractor drivers are more than likely to "take a nap standing up" in the afternoon of a hot day. This is especially true if the hours of work are too long.

Inexperienced operators of farm machinery often need considerable coaching to understand the safety rules that apply to the particular job they are doing. Farmers who employ extra help for only a short time during wheat harvest, who are themselves overworked, are too often likely to take it for granted that the men and boys they employ will be careful without any coaching on their part.

Overwork has a tendency to increase accidents. We are inclined to forget to be careful when we are tired. Farmers who are shorthanded are always inclined to do more than one man's work during the wheat harvest period. This tends to cause more accidents. Let's take time to be careful even if harvests lasts a few hours longer. The Armed Services have taken a heavy toll of men from Randall county farms. The 1945 wheat harvest will probably be completed with less manpower per acre harvested than any previous crop. It will be completed with more old machinery and less new machinery than any other crop. There are more fine chances for accidents now than ever before. More precaution is needed this year if we are to prevent serious accidents. There is generally more time lost by an accident than would have been required to prevent it. Some accidents result in property loss and the loss of valuable time even though no one is hurt. Let's do our best to save fingers and toes. Let's be careful!

Men Are Called For Induction and Physicals

Four men will leave July 1 for Oklahoma City where they will be inducted into the armed forces. Bascom Burch was postponed until after harvest. Those going for induction will be:

Chester Diton Nix, Alvin Lester Strem; Edgar Evert Underdown, transferred from California; Charlie James Hughes, transferred from Arizona.

Fourth of July May Be Observed By Local Stores

Next Wednesday is the Fourth of July. It is generally observed as a holiday throughout the nation.

No steps have been taken in Canyon to close the business houses, but various merchants have indicated that it is their intention to observe the day.

There will be no celebration because of the war.

Mayor W. A. Warren stated yesterday that he had made no survey of business firms regarding the holiday, but presumed that all firms which could conveniently close for the day would take this national holiday. With harvest in full blast many business firms cannot close for the holiday.

Lt. (jg) and Mrs. Arthur C. Haley, Jr., and daughter Mary Patricia, are visiting in the parental Warwick home. Lt. Haley is in the navy air corps and reports at Jacksonville, Fla., July 12 for a new assignment after having spent more than a year in the Pacific on a carrier.

Miss Geraldine Hart of Amarillo spent Sunday in the parental Silas Hart home.

Boy Dies Instantly Under Truck Wheels

A 10-year-old boy was crushed beneath the wheels of a grain truck on a farm three miles north of Happy late Thursday afternoon.

The boy was Gordon Burnett Crawford, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Crawford of Penrose, Colo. He came to the Panhandle about 10 days ago to work in the harvest with his uncle, Luther Lock. They were working on a farm owned by E. T. Miller of Amarillo when the boy slipped from the bed of the truck and was crushed. He was killed instantly.

The body was sent to Penrose Friday night by the Griggs-Warren Funeral home.

Officers Seeking to Put Stop to Fast Driving

Citizens of Canyon are protesting the fast, careless driving which goes on in Canyon, especially at night.

"Some one is going to get killed by these wild drivers, and then we will do something about it," stated a citizen yesterday.

Officers are asking citizens to co-operate in stopping this fast driving.

Editorials

Washington observers are predicting other changes in the Truman cabinet. It is reported that Stettinus, Morganthau and Ickes will soon be changed. Stettinius is too young and lacking in experience to handle world affairs such as confront the nation. Morgenthau has continued in the Treasury Department because of his friendship to President Roosevelt. Ickes wishes to stay on. He likes the Washington atmosphere. The facts are that Truman is the top hand in Washington today. The government is his responsibility. Therefore, he should choose his cabinet members. In spite of his obligations and friendship for Roosevelt, the responsibility is now upon Truman's shoulders. If the administration is to continue a success, he must have a cabinet in which he has the fullest confidence, and which shall function as a unit, rather than go in several directions, as in the past.

Military observers in Europe are certain that the German military staff is now planning another war. That is hard to believe, after the suffering war has brought to the German people. Unfortunately that is just the reason we had World War II. America became very sympathetic toward the Germans after 1919. We thought the Germans had been thoroughly whipped and would be good in the future. We came home to do as we pleased. This is just what the German military men wanted from us. They wanted us to get out of Europe and leave them alone. Hitler was a mere tool, and now that he again led Germany to defeat, some other foolish military man will try to correct the mistakes of the Kaiser and of Hitler. General Eisenhower announces that the German military staff must be destroyed. This will suit the American people, who are sold on the idea of a permanent peace.

A member of the Randall County Ration Board feels that he has wasted his time in trying to conserve gasoline. Motor caravans are being organized to go to Tucumcari for the big celebration in August. It seems like old times when people drive hundreds of miles for a celebration. No one criticises the good people of Tucumcari for wanting to celebrate this big event. It is a worthwhile project. It is said that Washington approves the idea and will have the bigwigs there to participate in the big event. But Washington is silent as to the waste of gasoline and the destruction to critical rubber in making the trip. If Washington wants the people to celebrate, it should be honest and provide the people of Randall county with extra gasoline and extra casings. Unfortunately these commodities are not being furnished. Just what is the answer? Ration Board members would like to know.

Governor Coke Stevenson has always believed in the constitution. He is going to uphold the constitution regardless of popular opinion. A small group of State Senators have been bitterly opposed to the Governor. Such a group passed a bill to give a free vote to men in service without payment of the poll tax. The bill was vetoed by Stevenson in view of the constitutional requirement that the voter must have paid the poll tax, or hold a legal exemption. The Governor is not opposed to men in uniform having a free vote, but he is not going to violate the constitution by mere legislative enactment. The people will vote to change the constitution in August so that a free vote will be given men and women in uniform. The legislature should have submitted an amendment to entirely abolish the poll tax as an implement for voting. We are going to be forced to do this very thing whether we like it or not.

The Newsman has been messing with type and ink for the past 42 years. We started as a high school kid, and became infatuated with the profession. The equipment of today is so much more superior to the stuff we had 42 years ago that there is little grounds for comparison. Back in those days the linotype was a mere experiment. Daily newspapers were produced by the slow handset operation. We have been reading of post-war plans for the printing industry. Daily newspapers will have as much color as the magazines today, according to predictions. Amazing new presses are in the blueprint stage. The development of color printing for the magazines has been the marvel of the age, as the reader will see if he will look back a few years at old copies. What will the weekly newspapers do or become? Here is great speculation. One thing is sure and certain, weekly newspapers must do a better job after the war than they are now doing, both in editing and in printing. Whether or not color printing will come to the weekly field depends entirely upon weeklies. It makes one dizzy to contemplate the future.

Various reports have been made against General MacArthur. The latest is that he prohibited the transfer of some of the top military men from Europe to the Pacific. MacArthur has vigorously denied these reports. He says that he will welcome such military leaders, but it is not his job to transfer them. General Stilwell is back in the Pacific, which is good news to the nation. MacArthur may be finicky, and have more political ambitions than is good for a military man, but he knows the Japs and knows how to deal with them. It will be most unfortunate if the nation should lose confidence in our military leaders in the Pacific because of unjust criticism of columnists who thrive on criticism.

Okinawa has fallen to our troops. The price is high, so much higher than the nation has been expecting. But America is not to be blamed for our attitude toward the Japs. We were led to believe that the Jap would be no serious military problem. We have found out differently. As a matter of fact, starting with Pearl Harbor and the Philippines, the Japs have inflicted the greatest military losses that we have ever sustained. The end is not in sight, if the Japs wish to continue their fanatical fight.

Congress seems to be unsettled as to the method of raising pay of the members. The House voted to allow its members an expense account of $2,500 per year. As a matter of fact, Senators already draw more than this $2,500. The President has asked Congress to go ahead and increase the pay of the members by a direct law. He sees no use in beating around the bush. However, Senators are said to be opposed to this method, in view of the expense account which the members already draw. Politics is surely a funny game.

Senators Tom Connally and Arthur Vandenburg will try to sell the Senate on their work at San Francisco. They want the United States to be the first of the nations to approve the peace proposal. In spite of the desire of the American people to secure permanent peace, a few isolationists in the Senate will attempt to destroy the work of the San Francisco conference. No one claims that this plan is perfect. It is as good as could be secured at this time. We hate to think what will happen in the future if America again falls down on the peace proposal.

The foolish French! After reading how the arrogant police are insulting American soldiers and Wacs in Paris, you can understand the feeling of American soldiers in 1918. The Vets of 25 years ago wanted to come home and leave Europe alone. De Gaulle is the inspiration which leads the French to claim that it was they who won the war, rather than the American troops who plowed from Normandy to Berlin.

General Eisenhower has received the hearty thanks of a grateful nation. He returned a hero, and he played the part well. Real heros are modest. Eisenhower is not given to boasting, except in his praise of the men who served in his command. In this respect he is paying honor where honor is due. He knows the German mind and will return to Europe to continue the work of keeping the German people in their place.

President Truman has warned the nation. In spite of more gasoline for essential driving, there are no more casings available. The President urges car owners to keep their vehicles in good condition, and to conserve their gasoline.

They say he would have lived to a ripe old age if he hadn't eaten so many cherries—from the bottom of his cocktail glass.

OUR DEMOCRACY — by Mat

THE SPIRIT OF AMERICA
JULY 4 1945
ALBERT MATHIEU
"To be stanch and valiant and free and strong."
FROM "THE EAGLE'S SONG" BY RICHARD MANSFIELD.

HILLMAN DOESN'T LIKE TRUMAN

That President Harry Truman is "going right down the line" in an effort to be the President of all the people, and not the tool or the mouthpiece of highly regimented and vocal minority segment of the population, is mirrored in the news from Washington that Sidney Hillman is attempting to stir up trouble for the Chief Executive among the radical elements of the land.

For our part, we greet the news of the Hillman dissatisfaction with President Truman's policies as a very good sign, because we feel that the things Sidney Hillman espouses are detrimental to democracy per se, and to the best interests of the majority of the American people. The foreign-born Hillman advances entirely too many European principles to suit us and the fact that he has been a constant and longtime subscriber to much of the Russian form of regimentation is reflected in almost every action he has taken since he has been in the public eye.

Hillman's efforts, ever since he arrived on these shores and had an opportunity to mount a soap-box, have been directed toward trouble-making. In recent years, since the New Deal form of government found it to its political advantage to pit class against class, he has loudly espoused the cause of extreme radicalism and of a regimented minority, and not that of the rank and file of the citizenship. This sort of thing is in direct opposition to the basic theory of democracy which insists that the majority, not the organized minority, be best served.

If they haven't already discovered the fact, thinking Americans will be convinced by Hillman's latest activities that there are never any pleasing extreme leftwing elements of this—or any other—country. Their whole appeal is based upon causing dissatisfaction; their very life—politically and otherwise—depends upon active trouble-making and the raising of furore. They care for nothing except their own selfish desires, and they never will. Selfishness is the very core of the left wing method of operation. Anyone who thinks he has cause to doubt this statement need only to look over Russia's record at the San Francisco conference; at the gyrations of the Communist Marshall Tito of Yugoslavia; and the leftwingers of France who are hindering efforts of their nation to bring some sort of order out of chaos there at this time. National and international records of the past 15 years are studded with such supporting testimony.

Therefore, Hillman's unhappiness with President Truman's actions and policies thus far should be heartening to all Americans who wish to protect their country and its people from those who would supplant the American Way with the isms of Europe. Hillman's opposition to the administration should cause all the rest of us to bend over backward in an effort to support the President and to maintain the unity which happily has been the President's since Fate placed him in the highest office in the world.

They proved she shot her husband at close range, because there were powder marks on him. She contended there were powder marks on him before hand, and that's why she shot him.

Says the Wood County Democrat: You can not bring about prosperity by discouraging thrift.

You can not strengthen the weak by weakening the strong.

You can not help small men by tearing big men down.

You can not help the poor by destroying the rich.

You can not lift the wage-earner by pulling down the wage-payer.

You can not keep out of trouble by spending more than your income.

You can not establish sound security on borrowed money.

You can not build character and courage by taking away a man's initiative and independence.

You can not help men permanently by doing for them what they could and should do for themselves.

Description of a beautiful woman, by an unknown writer:

Men turned to look at her as she passed, for there was about her a youthful charm that compelled admiration. The tender beauty of an unfolding bud, just awakened to the loveliness of life, was hers. The clear texture of her skin, the vivacious sparkle which lent her eyes a look of irrepressible gaiety, the sheen of her glossy hair, all harmonized in accentuation of vivid freshness. She brought thoughts of springtime, those days when the year is yet young and the harshness of advancing time is absent. She was vibrant, lovely, vitally alive, the personification of youth itself. She had just left the beauty parlor.

Fire Prevention Exhibit Shown

W. T. played host last week to an exhibit of Fire Prevention posters made by school children from 130 towns and rural school districts in Texas. The exhibit is sponsored annually by the Fire Prevention Division of the State Insurance Commission and for several years has been under the supervision of Miss Olga Juniger of Austin.

W. T. is the third of a group of schools which will include all Teachers Colleges and the University of Texas, at which the exhibit has been presented this year.

The main purpose behind the contest to which the posters are submitted is the stimulation of interest in fire prevention. The excellent workmanship exhibited has created a vivid impression of the importance of caution in homes and in industry.

Miss Juniger stated that since the program of prevention has been emphasized the number of home fires has been greatly reduced. She also said that an average of five public schools are destroyed or damaged by fire each day in the United States. "This," she added "should be an incentive to statewide study and care of fire hazards."

The word "Texas" is derived from the Indian greeting "Texias," which meant, "Hello, Friend." Hence the reference to Texas as meaning "friendly."

YEARS OF PROVED PERFORMANCE

Notes From County H. D. Agent

Making the limited sugar supplies fill the food preservation budget is quite a problem at this time. Sugar helps most canned fruit hold its shape, color, and flavor, but sugar is not necessary to keep fruit from spoiling. When canning without sugar or a small amount of sugar, use the strained juice from crushed fruit which has been heated. Process unsweetened fruit the same as sweetened.

The general wartime rule is 1 pound or 2 cups of sugar to 4 quarts of fruit. One cup of syrup usually covers 1 quart of fruit when it is well packed. A thin syrup is very desirable from a nutrition stand point.

Sugar substitutes:

Corn syrup or corn sugar may be substituted for part or all of the sugar. One cup sugar and 2 cups corn syrup to 6 cups of water make a desirable syrup. This is a thin syrup. If corn syrup is to replace all of the sugar, use ½ to ¾ cup syrup and 1 cup water.

Brown sugar or syrups that have strong flavor such as sorghum are not desirable for canning.

Honey may be used to replace a small part of the sugar. It affects the flavor of the fruit more than corn syrup. It is good with fruit pickles.

Never use saccharin in canning. Heat makes it bitter. If saccharin is used it should be added at the time you serve the fruit. Consult a doctor before using it, because too much saccharin may be harmful.

A Florida Experiment Station scientist recommends making invert sugar to make it go farther. To do this mix 2 cups of sugar with 1 cup of water. Add ¼ teaspoon of tartaric acid (which you can get at any drug store). Cover this sugar, water and tartaric acid mixture and simmer gently 30 minutes. Allow it to cool. Then you have invert sugar syrup. Each cup is about 1¾ times as sweet as the same weight in plain syrup. This syrup is excellent to use in canning, but it should be diluted. Use ¼ cup invert sugar syrup to 1 cup water for a thin syrup. It is also good in sweetening fruits, cereals, ice cream and beverages.

The above information applies to freezing as well as canning. Honey does not freeze as solidly and it thaws more quickly than sugar syrup or corn syrup. Therefore it is not satisfactory for freezing.

1944 records show cotton continues to give Texas growers the highest value per acre of any major field crop grown in the state.

Teacher Told of Warm Springs and Roosevelt's Death

Mrs. G. C. Applewhite spoke at the Rotary Club luncheon Tuesday, giving an intimate picture of the Warm Springs Foundation, where she was a teacher last year.

Special music was given by Rev. and Mrs. W. R. Mann, accompanied by their son, Seaman Raymond Mann. Raymond also played a piano solo.

Mrs. Applewhite explained that the March of Dimes does not go directly to the Warm Springs Foundation. The National Foundation is located in New York City, and for several years this organization took all of the money. In recent years the deficit of Warm Springs has been paid by the National Foundation.

In the early days the Indians recognized the healing powers of Warm Springs. After battling among themselves, tribal chieftains often gathered there to recuperate.

When Franklin D. Roosevelt was afflicted with infantile paralysis, a friend recommended that he go to Warm Springs to swim in the pool. Roosevelt found it very beneficial. Almost overnight the fame of Warm Springs spread. There were no accommodations, but Mr. Roosevelt took personal charge in preparing needed improvements. For the past 24 years a founders day program has been held, and was prepared this year, just before the President died.

Warm Springs is designated as the city of wheel chairs. It is now recognized as "the place" for treatment, and afflicted persons come from all parts of the world. They are taught to carry on a normal life.

When the President visited Warm Springs in November, those who had been associated with him throughout the years shook their heads and said he was not a well man. When he came back in April, for the first time in 24 years he was not placed in the driver's seat of his car, and did not wave at his assembled friends. They realized that he was in a bad condition.

"The glamour of Warm Springs passed with the death of President Roosevelt," stated Mrs. Applewhite. A committee has been appointed to carry on the work which he started 24 years ago. Those interested in the work believe that it shall continue to help thousands come back to normal lives.

C. J. Crawford of Mills county spent Saturday here with his brother, L. H. Crawford. Mr. Crawford formerly lived in Canyon and is well known to many citizens.

Robert Avent, U. S. N. R. who is being transferred to Norman, Okla., in Navy V-5 training, spent the week end in the parental Lavert Avent home.

Guy B. Tabor, Mrs. Harley Stone and Tabor Rodger Stone visited with their mother and grandmother, Mrs. C. V. Tabor and family, in Clyde the first of this week.

Mrs. J. W. Atkins and children, Jo Ann and Richard, from Ardmore, Okla., are visiting Mrs. Atkins' mother, Mrs. Mildred Kyle.

A. D. Schneider was taken to the Sanitorium at Sanitorium, Texas, near San Angelo, Thursday by Griggs-Warren Ambulance.

Miss Dorothy Heath leaves tomorrow for Waco where she will be employed in the registrar's office at Baylor University.

YOUTH

Youth is not a time of life—it is a state of mind. It is not a matter of ripe cheeks, red lips, and supple knees; it is a temper of will, a quality of the imagination, a vigor of the emotions; it is a freshness of the deep springs of life.

Youth means a temperamental predominence of courage over timidity, of the appetite for adventure over love of ease.

This often exists in a man of 50 more than a boy of 20.

Nobody grows old by merely living a number of years; people grow old only by deserting their ideals. Years wrinkle the skin, but to give up enthusiasm wrinkles the soul. Worry, doubt, self-distrust, fear and despair—these are the long, long years that bow the head and turn the growing spirit back to dust.

Whether seventy or sixteen, there is in every being's heart the love of wonder, the sweet amazement at the stars and the star-like things and thoughts, the undaunted challenge of events, the unfailing child-like appetite for what next, and the joy of the game of life.

You are as young as your faith, as old as your doubt; as young as your self-confidence, as old as your fear; as young as your hope, as old as your despair.

In the central place of your heart there is a wireless station; so long as it receives messages of beauty, hope, cheer, courage, grandeur, and power from the earth, from men and from the Infinite, so long are you young.

When the wires are all down and all the central place of your heart is covered with the snows of pessimism and the ice of cynicism, then you are grown old indeed and may God have mercy on your soul.—(Anonymous).

YOUR TRACTOR is your obedient servant who works from sun up to sun down and asks nothing in return but fuel to keep it diligently serving. Is it asking too much for you to repay it with quality gasoline so that it can keep on the front line of defense, working to win this war? It can't declare a strike . . . it won't even maliciously sit down on the job . . . it will do the only thing it can do when unjustly treated—lose its smooth-working efficiency. This not only impedes your progress, but seriously hampers the progress of the war. That tractor of yours is part of America's powerful "field artillery." Panama Hats Industry Revived by World War II

During the depression, beginning in 1929, competition from cheap straw hats from the Orient and Italy caused a decline in the Panama hat industry, but when the present war cut off these overseas competitors, the industry revived. Panama hats originated in Ecuador, the country which still is the chief center for their manufacture. Colombia, Panama and some other Latin American countries also make and export soft, pliable, finely woven straw hats which are now included under the general name of Panama. The name was given by prospectors coming back from the California gold rush by way of Panama who first brought these hats into the U. S. Because the hats were purchased in Panama, they were named accordingly and the name has held through the years.

The hats are woven over a wood block, beginning at the center of the crown and working outward and downward, while the crown center is held in place with a heavy stone until the hat is finished. The weavers, mostly Indian or Mestizo women and children, take anywhere from one to several days to make inexpensive hats, and three to six months for the finest hats. When sold in this country, the hats cost anywhere from one to several hundred dollars each.

The fibers used to make the hats come from the toquilla plant, which thrives in hot, humid areas such as the lowlands of western Ecuador. The best fibers when properly treated and carefully woven, make hats as soft as linen which will wear for years. They are so flexible that they may be rolled without damage, are water resistant, have considerable elasticity and because they are carefully finished on both sides may be worn on either side.

Biscuit Dough Kept on Hand for Ready Use

Baking powder biscuit dough is the basis of many dishes. The basic mixture of flour, baking powder, salt and shortening will keep well if stored in a tightly-covered can or jar in the refrigerator, ready to be combined with various ingredients for biscuits, rolls and desserts.

Meat and vegetable pies can be topped with tiny drop biscuits, or biscuit dough cut in circles, squares or crescents. Have the meat pie filling piping hot and bake the biscuits quickly to keep them light.

Left-over cooked meat can be ground, seasoned and mixed with gravy or brown sauce, and spread on rolled biscuit dough. Then roll it like a jelly-roll and bake it. Use a sweet filling for this jelly-roll biscuit for excellent breakfast rolls. To make shortcakes add sugar to the basic biscuit dough, about one tablespoonful for each cup of biscuit mix. Add milk, roll the dough out, and cut it into individual rounds. Brush one circle with melted lard, top it with another round, and bake it in a hot oven. Fill with fruit.

President a Pianist

Many hitherto unrevealed incidents in the life of Harry S. Truman have come to light since his elevation to the presidency, not the least interesting of which is the fact that the great Polish composer and virtuoso, Ignace Jan Paderewski, once gave Mr. Truman some highly appreciated pointers on playing the instrument. Piano playing is Mr. Truman's favorite pastime, the President having taken it up as a boy because poor eyesight made it impossible for him to enjoy outdoor sports. Confused about how to turn a sharp corner in one of Paderewski's compositions, he asked the master about it upon meeting him in Kansas City. Paderewski showed him how to execute it, albeit the lesson lasted but a few minutes. Available records indicate this was the only time Paderewski ever taught in this country.

Conservation Crop

Scientists have developed a variety of sorghum that yields neither grain nor fodder. The "no yield" sorghum was bred for an erosion-control crop. When planted for this purpose, it is best to leave all growth on the land. Stalks of the new variety make good growth, but are too hard and dry for forage and contain no sweetness. The seed also is too small to make it worth harvesting for grain. The brushy heads are unsuitable for making brooms. So, say the plant breeders, the "no yield" sorghum is well suited for use in erosion control. Its characteristics remove any temptation the grower might have to harvest the crops for other purposes.

Steel Consumer

Shipbuilding in 1944 again was the nation's leading single consumer of steel, but not by so large a margin as in 1943. Builders of merchant and naval vessels were supplied by the steel mills last year with 10,287,000 tons of steel, or 17 per cent of the total of 60,353,000 tons of products shipped during the year. In 1943, they received 11,509,000 tons—19 per cent of the total of 59,906,000 tons of products shipped. More steel was delivered last year than in 1943 to several major industry groups, including railroads, container manufacturers, agricultural equipment makers and the oil, gas and mining industries.

Of the months in the year, September has the longest name.

Sgt. R. Stevens Citation Bomber Raids on Germany

Special to News: With the 321st Bomb Group in Italy.—At a V-E Day ceremony the 321st B-25 Mitchell Bomb Group of the 12th Air Force was presented its second War Department citation, highest honor attainable by a combat unit, and among those sharing the honor is Sgt. Roy J. Stevens, who has served as a turret gunner with the twice-cited group.

His mother, Mrs. L. A. Stevens, lives at 900 4th St., Canyon, Texas.

The official citation published in Washington lauds the B-25 unit for an attack against shipping in Toulon harbor three days following the invasion of Southern France. The giant battleship "Strasbourg," crusier "La Galiozopnoire" and a submarine had been moved into position to use their heavy guns against the Allied invading forces. In one smashing attack Mitchell bombers of the 321st sent all three warships to the bottom, an unprecedented feat in medium bombing annals.

One of the oldest bomb groups overseas, the 321st began combat in March, 1943, and played a major role in bringing about the final defeat of the German armies in Italy. In 897 missions the 321st sent out more than 18,000 Mitchell bombers to attack the enemy in Tunisia, the Mediterranean islands, Italy, the Balkans, France and Austria.

A Toast TO AMERICA!

These gentlemen of Japan are drinking to us. They are raising their cups in the hope that Americans will get "tired" carrying on a bitter war thousands of miles from home. The Japanese high command is counting on us to help her hold her stolen empire.

The only way we will upset this Jap strategy is to become acutely aware of certain jolting facts:

Do you know that Japan, the "master-race" of 70,000,000 now controls nearly a half-billion people—nearly a quarter of the world's population?

Do you know that Japan right now has sufficient materials and food to carry on for many years at the present rate of attrition?

Do you know that the Japs are making planes as fast as we can knock them down? One of our returned Navy fliers just recently said he chased a "Judy" (they're not fighting the old type Zeros any more!) for forty miles . . . and the Jap simply pulled away from one of our fastest planes!

Do you realize that it's 14,000 miles from France to Tokyo . . . that we can't wait for the leftover arms from Europe to beat Japan . . . that the Jap Military is counting on this very barrier of distance to cool our ardor for war?

Do you realize that we have never taken one of her stolen islands without having to account for every last man on it—that our first two years of fighting yielded tens of thousands dead Japs but only a few thousand prisoners?

These are cold facts. Let's look at them coldly, honestly.

If we haven't enough ships, we must build them. But a citizenry complacent in the idea that one of the world's strongest empires is a pushover doesn't build them fast enough.

If we haven't enough guns, planes and tanks, we must make them. But that means staying on our war jobs until our war jobs are finished.

The question is not "Can we beat Japan?" It's "When?" "How?" And at what cost in lives?

The answer is up to every last one of us.

It will end as soon as 130,000,000 Americans and their allies, fighting and working together, make it end.

How you can help

1. Keep that war job!
2. Keep buying Bonds!
3. Keep doing all your country asks!

RUBBING IT IN

Sending a telegram to his wife—really to announce his safe arrival at his destination after a long train journey—a soldier filled in the telegraph form: "Darling, darling, darling, darling, darling.."

"With the address, that makes eleven words," said the post office assistant. "You're allowed another word."

"But there's nothing else I want to say," said the soldier.

"You could always put in another 'darling,'" suggested the assistant.

The soldier pondered for a spell. "Don't you think that would look rather silly?" he asked.

The judge was giving his regulation lecture on the evils of gambling. "So you see," he concluded, "what a wicked thing it is to shoot craps, especially on the Sabbath. Have you nothing better than that to do on Sundays?"

U. S. Station Strives to Develop Better Rabbits

The U. S. Rabbit Experiment station at Fontana, Calif., maintained and operated by the service, was established in 1927 to aid beginners and oldtimers alike. Upwards of 4,000 rabbits are utilized annually at the station in the conduct of carefully planned experiments in the feeding and breeding of rabbits which have a wide application to the entire country.

Current experiments are being carried on to determine the feasibility of using whole grain in rabbit feeding; the relative value of various protein supplements; the adaptability of selective self-feeders; the possible nutritional causes of so-called "bloat" which is responsible for losses to rabbit producers; the development of a superior strain of breeding rabbits; and various factors conducive to production of better skins adaptable to use by furriers. The experiments are progressive and so outlined as to render the most service in solving current problems of rabbit producers.

Some of the purposes for which research on rabbits is conducted are: to develop improved methods of breeding, feeding, housing and management, and judging rabbits to aid those engaged in the business to produce meat and fur of fine quality at a profit; to produce rabbit meat so economically that it can be sold at a price that will be well within the means of the consumer; to improve the quality of fur so that it will be in demand by the fur trade. Several leaflets have been published giving the results to date of a number of experiments.

Homemakers Can Shampoo Furniture, Rugs Safely

Homemakers can safely give upholstered furniture and rugs a "dry suds" shampoo. To make the shampoo, chip finely and dissolve one small cake of neutral or very mild soap in one quart of boiling water and allow to cool. Add one-half cup of the soap jelly to a pint of cold water and beat with an egg beater until it is worked up into a pretty white froth that looks like a good icing for a cake. Apply the "dry suds" to the fabric, cleaning a small area at a time, and let each new area overlap the last one a little. The "dry suds" soak up the dirt and are then removed by scraping off with a plate scraper or spatula. To rinse, use a sponge or cloth wrung from clear, lukewarm water making sure the foundation stays dry but the soap is removed, and wipe the fabric well. It will take two rinses to get the "dry suds" off. The last step in the "dry suds" treatment is to wipe the fabric thoroughly dry. For this, use a dry absorbent cloth. Be sure the finishing strokes go in the direction of the nap or weave of the material.

Clean Sewing Machine

Keep the sewing machine in top running condition at all times. If the machine has not had a thorough cleaning for some time, gummed oil and dirt may have accumulated. In this case, flush out dirt and gummed oil with a cleaning fluid, such as kerosene or carbon tetrachloride. Squirt the cleaning fluid, using a small oil can, into oil holes and on bearings and other places customarily oiled. Then wipe carefully with a lintless cloth and let the machine stand several hours, until the cleaning fluid evaporates. After cleaning, oil the machine well and run it a while to work oil into the bearings. Wipe off any excess oil carefully, so it won't collect dust. For later oilings, one drop of oil in each bearing and oil hole is enough. Oil after each day's work, or after 8 to 10 hours use. To prevent drying and gumming, oil the machine occasionally even when not in use.

Insurance Industry

The 16th U. S. census reported the insurance business as the principal occupation of 524,723 persons, of whom 186,137, or more than one-third, were women. Nearly half, or 238,600, were agents or brokers throughout the nation. This is slightly more than 1 out of each 100 persons gainfully employed in 1940—about the same number engaged in such large industries as coal mining, utilities, printing and publishing, automobile manufacturing, or the hotel business. Figuring 3.6 persons as the average household of each gainfully employed person, the number of persons deriving their living from insurance was 1,909,000, as of March, 1940. In addition, the insurance business was a minor activity of many other persons whose major activity was real estate or finance.

Floating Drydocks

Though several different models of floating drydocks are presently in operation, the newest and most radical of these is the advanced base sectional type, in which 10 separate units, or barges, are joined together to form a repair dock that can accommodate a battleship. When this type dock is assembled, the separate barges form a surface nearly as long as three football fields and with side walls rising higher than a five-story building. Each of the sections has a lifting capacity of 10,000 long tons, equivalent to a fleet of 11 average automobiles. An assembly composed of seven such sections joined together is large enough to accommodate a cruiser.

Danny Shows Up

By JOHN RAFTERY
McClure Newspaper Syndicate.
WNU Features.

MAIDA sighed as she saw Dan come up the path just as if he had been shopping, instead of after an absence of six years.

Fay jumped up and ran out crying "Uncle Dan! Uncle Dan!" He lifted the child and carried her into the house perched on his shoulder.

He grinned at his sister, put down Fay and said, "Both my girls are growing up, especially my big little sister Maida."

Maida asked, "Where's your luggage?" and tried to look like a welcoming committee, but did not succeed.

"Of course. Of course. You know you're always welcome, Dan. Henry loves to have you here. You can take the guest room."

Dan sat drinking coffee in the kitchen, telling Maida where he had been, as he called it, ad interim. "Well, most of the time I was in Australia. I wanted to get back here so that I could cross to see Ellen in Ireland, but it's quite hard to travel by sea these days. I came quartermaster Sydney to Papeete, able seaman Papeete to Hilo, and bosun to San Francisco."

"Couldn't you have written?" Maida asked. "Don't you know we worry about you, you worthless scamp?"

Fay was exercising all her eleven-year-old restraint, but it finally burst its bounds. "Did you see any Japs? Did you meet any submarines? Did you sleep in a bunk or in a hammock? Was it hot or cold where you were? Were there any palm trees?"

"Wait a minute, baby. One at a time. Suppose I go over the thing in detail tonight?" A little later he said, "Guess I'll go down and get my bags at the station." Fay begged to go with him and Maida nodded.

When they were on their way she called Henry at the office. "Oh, dear, dear, Henry, Danny showed up again this morning."

"Swell. We'll have a lot of fun with the old boy. How's he look?"

"I wish you had him in the kitchen making coffee, fooling in the refrigerator, ruining my discipline of Fay, leaving your books open, face down, all over the house!"

"Aw, don't mind that. I'll bring him in to the shop a couple of days. He and the kid will both have the time of their lives."

They came up the path, Danny carrying two heavy English-looking bags plastered with labels all colors of the rainbow. Fay was prancing around him, needing two steps for each one of his. To herself Maida said, "Broke again. No taxicab."

Afterward Dan dressed up in a suit of battered but jaunty tweeds and came out to the kitchen. "Maida," he said, "could you lend me a bit of change? Say a quarter for a packet of fags and maybe one of those cone things for the wee one?"

Henry solved the money problem next morning. He slid five dollars in the door of Dan's room.

Maida resolved to do her duty. "Danny," she said, "how about getting you a job until you find some way to get to Londonberry?" Fay looked as if the heavens were about to open and take her favorite playmate away forever.

Dan pursed his lips, thought for an extended interval and said, "You know it's a point of pride with me to get along without working, Maida dear."

When Maida was at her wit's end one day the phone rang. She lifted the receiver. "This is the Department of State calling. Is there a man with you named Daniel Porter?"

"Yes . . . Yes . . . What is it?

"Have him stay in half an hour. The Australian ministry will call him." This, she knew, was it. Although Dan had never been in trouble before, there was always a first time.

She fluttered around the telephone until the call came through. Dan answered. "Yes . . . Yes . . . This is he . . . Yes, out in the bush. Of course they can have it. Two thousand pounds . . . ? I'd be glad to give it to the government. Tungsten on it . . . ? How ripping! I'll send you the papers. Cheerio!"

To Maida he said, "Bit of all right. They want a piece of land I won in a game. Two thousand pounds! Old girl, where's that mortgage you've always got the wind up about?"

He was a good man, as husbands go, and as husbands go he went.

THOMPSON'S

Worley Writes of Germany

I think everyone is interested in the daily lives and welfare of our forces overseas. I had a chance to see how they lived behind the lines and also in the forward areas. We were in Germany shortly behind Patton's Third Army. And by the way, the Nazis never did know where Patton and his amazing Army would strike next.

Taken by and large, I am firmly convinced the American forces were better fed, better clothed, had better weapons and equipment and better spirits and morale than any others of the Allied forces. In the more active areas of course there was hardly time for anyone to carry field kitchens and serve three hot meals a day. In those cases, packaged, waterproofed rations were provided. Each package contained all of the vitamins and other forms of nutrition it is possible to pack into them. I cannot say that I would have enjoyed them as a steady diet for months—and neither would anyone else—and certainly they don't compare to a good steak or country fried chicken with all the trimmings, but they were good and they were healthful.

You know morale is a series of little things. The Army tried to provide everything such as cigarettes, cokes, reading material, and a thousand other things in the various post exchanges which the boys could buy at very low prices. In addition, the Red Cross worked valiantly to provide recreation and entertainment. The camp shows provided by the United Service Organization in which various famous movie stars appeared seemed to be a great boost to the morale of the boys. However, the thing they enjoyed most was—and you guessed it—mail from home. And the next best thing was the hometown newspapers from which they could secure all the news of everything going on back home.

I talked with G. I.'s from Frankfurt, Germany to Casablanca, and no troops anywhere ever showed finer spirit than the American soldiers. They had some rugged going from D-Day until the Nazis finally gave up the fight. And it took the finest courage, skill, and bravery to beat the Nazi army. The American doughboys had more ingenuity and initiative than any of the enemy. If he were thrown suddenly on his own he had the knack of taking full of any possibilities provided—which wasn't true of the German Army because it had been regimented so thoroughly and so long they no longer possessed the initiative and versatility the American G. I. had in abundance.

I saw a sign somewhere over in Germany which read as follows: "Buy Bonds and Help Texas Win the War." Perhaps it sounds strange, but no matter where I was, somewhere in the neighborhood was anywhere from one to a dozen or more Texans. I honestly don't see how anybody is still left back in the Lone Star State. And I say in all candor the Texans rated Number One as fighting men.

All of us are acquainted with the dangerous but heroic actions of the 36th Division, both in the last war and this war. They fought all the way from North Africa through to the heart of Germany and every step was a tough and bloody one. No division stands higher in the respect of fighting men than does the 36th.

I landed at an airfield outside Frankfurt, Germany and the first thing I saw was a Lone Star flag flying over the field. I immediately inquired from a G. I. driving a crash wagon where those Texans were. He quickly responded: "I'm one." He took me off to one side and said, "We've got a few damyankees here but we're trying to convert them." I learned later from the Commanding Officer, a Texan and a Colonel at the ripe old age of 27, that the Lone Star flag had been made out of a blackout curtain representing the blue; a bleached mattress cover for the white, and a Russian flag had been used to fashion a mighty pretty Lone Star flag, which looked awfully good when you're so far away from home. These boys who flew P-47 fighter planes (Thunderbolts) had flown this flag all over Germany.

All of the boys quite naturally were interested in Texas and what had happened since they left. I filled several notebooks with messages from the boys to deliver when I got back to the States, and which I gladly did.

To give you an idea how much Texas influence has spread, I was present when some military government officials were talking to some German civilians, I asked one German girl in the group if she spoke English. In broken but intelligible English, she replied, "No, I speak Texan."

STADIUM CLOTHES — WOOLGORA COATS

June 13, 1945

GAMBLE & CHEATHAM
CANYON, TEXAS

TO OUR CUSTOMERS:

We are daily receiving inquiries from our customers regarding prospects for fall clothing and we can well appreciate that all of you are most interested in this subject.

We have deferred getting out a general letter regarding our fall line until we had something definite to tell you. As you know, our Government took over the entire production of all worsted mills last January—this freeze to run until June 2nd. In the meantime, we had been hoping that on or before June 2nd there would be just cause for this freeze to be lifted and that our mill sources would be in a position to go into the production of civilian goods and make deliveries in time for us to manufacture them for fall use. We have been awaiting this information before attempting to tell you about our fall plans.

We have had samples in our desk of our special fall styles since January and have been ready to give our mills quantities to place in work the day they were privileged to resume civilian production.

Now all these plans and hopes have been blasted by an extension of the freeze, making it almost impossible to produce fall goods that could be converted into clothing much, if any, before the end of the year.

The woolen mills are not taken over 100% as are the worsted mills, but 80% of their production goes to the army and navy, leaving 20% for civilian use; therefore, there will be a little sprinkle of these soft goods such as cassimeres, tweeds, etc. We expect to have our share of this character of goods and whatever it amounts to will be made up and distributed in the most equitable manner possible.

In view of these facts and conditions, you can well appreciate that it is impossible for us to get out any kind of line or call on you with anything to sell. As long as there was any market open, we know you will agree that we got our share of desirable goods and then some, but when no civilian goods are allowed to be produced, there is nothing we can do about it.

As stated above, we have our fall styles on hand and our mills are now preparing our special styles for Spring 1946, so if the freeze is lifted in time for fall, we are all set; if it is postponed until next spring, we will get into production as early as anybody.

We just want you to know that we are on the job and will do everything we can to serve you at the earliest possible date. In the meantime, we can only request your kind indulgence, understanding and cooperation. Regarding this spring goods, there has been no change in the situation since our general letter of February 10th. We are still delivering goods in the ranges as promised, but we have not received, nor will we, any Gulf Tone tropicals, or 9800 range Gabardines, which sales constitute the major portion of our business.

Yours truly,

Left Handed Is No Handicap to Child's Future

Austin: "So What?" is often the modern reply to queries a parent may receive if his child is left-handed. Social custom is responsible for the preference of ribht-handedness in our children, say psychologists of the University of Texas, and except for the person's convenience, the use of the left hand can be as normal to some people as the use of the right to others.

"We still place emphasis on being right-handed," Dr. C. T. Gray, professor of educational psychology, says: "If a child is left-handed, he will be dubbed 'Lefty' or a 'southpaw,' by his playmates. Fortunately, with most children, it makes no difference. But, to those with emotional difficulties, it may be a serious problem," he said.

The use of hands is related to language, Dr. Gray pointed out, and for that reason nervous or highly strung children, if changed from using the left hand to the right hand, may stutter, or develop other speech difficulties.

"Psychologists report that the ratio of left-handedness among United States school children varies from to to 4 to 6 per cent who are left-handed," Dr. Gray said. "However, those who have made a study of the problem report that probably 25 per cent would have been left-handed if they had not been changed."

Some universities and high schools are now putting left-handed desks in class rooms; teachers know now to have the left-handed child slant his paper toward the left, and in the business world, some banks are putting out left-handed check books. All these things, says the psychologists, are normal acceptance of a normal use of the left-hand.

"Many people want their children to be right-handed. If the parents want to stress use of the right hand, he should give toys and objects to the infant in such a way that it would be necessary for him to use the right hand.

"If the child goes to a great deal of trouble to pick up an object with his left hand—crossing his left hand over to the right side, or catching an object when it would be more reasonable to use the right, then he is most likely innately left-handed," Dr. Gray said.

"Treat the left-handed child the same as if he were right-handed and he will progress without difficulty," the professor said.

Why Phillips is Today One of the Country's Greatest Producers of Butadiene for Synthetic Rubber

But that truck also represents one of the biggest headaches tire men—and oil men—have had to face in this war!

You see, our synthetic rubber program has had to overcome more than the lack of raw rubber from the Jap-held East Indies. It has had to cope with a fantastic demand for tires for Army trucks and other vehicles.

Why is that demand fantastic? Just imagine speeding along roads pitted by shellfire and sprinkled with shrapnel . . . hub-deep in mud, or rutted in frozen ridges. Under those terrible conditions, tires have become frayed and useless at an appalling rate.

Phillips 66

That American industry has been able to meet this terrific demand for all-important truck tires is due, to a great extent, to companies like Phillips.

For long before Pearl Harbor, Phillips scientists foresaw the possibilities of butadiene in producing synthetic rubber. As a result, when the blow fell at Pearl Harbor, Phillips great research and production facilities were ready to step into the breach.

Today, the Phillips 66 Shield stands for one of America's leading producers of butadiene for synthetic rubber . . . as well as a great producer of 100-Octane Aviation Fuel, and an almost endless list of newer and better products from petroleum gases and petroleum.

WILSON GETS FINAL TRAINING

Cpl. Eugene D. Wilson, gunner, of Canyon, will soon complete an intensive course in combat flying, and in the near future will go overseas to a combat area.

He is the member of a Flying Fortress crew trained at Alexandria Air Field by the Third Air Force, which trains heavy bombardment crews for overseas duty.

Cpl. Wilson is the son of Mrs. Ethel Wilson, of Canyon. The 19-year old gunner entered the AAF in January of 1944.

Distinguished Flying Cross to Lt. Jas. Davis

The 25th Bomb Group, (Reconnaissance) England.—First Lieutenant James M. Davis, 31, of Canyon, Texas, has been awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross, it has been announced. Holder of the Air Medal with six Oak Leaf Clusters as well, he is the navigator of a Mosquito and was engaged in reconnaissance missions over Germany to aid air and ground operations during the European war.

The citation states this award was made for, " . . . extraordinary achievement in aerial flight over Germany. Serving as navigator and weather observer, Lt. Davis completed a large number of reconnaissance missions in an unarmed and unescorted aircraft. Upon his observations of cloud formations, the movement of weather fronts and other factors, often depended the extent of Allied air force operations against the enemy.

"The accuracy of his reports and calculations played a large part in the success of immediate aerial attacks as well as the safety of aircraft and crews. Supporting a formation of heavy bombers on one occasion, Lt. Davis performed a new type of aerial operation with outstanding success. By his display of exceptional navigation, skill, courage and resourcefulness, he effectively carried out his assignments in such a manner as to reflect the highest credit upon himself and the armed forces of the United States.

Lt. Davis, the son of Mr. and Mrs. John M. Davis, Canyon, is married to the former Miss Edythe Webb, 1062½ Broadway, Long Beach, California. He is a graduate of Canyon high school and of West Texas State College at Canyon. A chemist, he entered the army in January, 1943, completed navigation school at San Marcos, Texas and has been overseas since March, 1944.
